

December 24, 2004

To whom it may concern,

It is with delight that I write a recommendation for Nicolas Colin.

I had the pleasure of working with Nicolas during his two months Brand Ambassador position internship with D'Artagnan in Newark, New Jersey.

During his experience with D'Artagnan he was responsible for many activities in the marketing and retail departments such as developing a cheese product guide and price list, a press database, creating and forecasting the allocation of promotional materials, participating of special events among many others. His maturity, great rigor for researching and creating resourcefulness was a great asset to our company. I felt completely comfortable in entrusting responsibilities to his and was thrilled with his eagerness to learn and team spirit.

Moreover he exhibited a high level of professionalism and always showed great initiative on the projects he handled.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I may elaborate on Nicolas abilities, as I would be pleased to do so.

Cordially,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Isabelle Abrard". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the end.

Isabelle Abrard,

Marketing Director